Confederate Flags at Gettysburg. Benford City, July 29.—An article has been going the rounds of the press purporting to tell the whereabouts of the flag of the Twenty-eighth regiment, Virginia infantry, Pickett's division, and the history of its capture. The article states that the flag was captured at the battle of Gettysburg. This may be true, but at the time of its capture it was not, in the hands of the its capture it was not in the hands of the commanding officer of the regiment as stated. The article also states that the Twenty-eighth was at that time commanded by Colonel Charles Ronald, now of Christiansburg. This is not true. It was commanded by Colonel Robert C. Allen, who was born and raised in Bedford county, Va. Three standard-bearers had been shot Va. Three standard-bearers had been shot in succession as the regiment went forward in the daring assault. When the third fell Colonel Allen grasped the staff and bore the colors of his regiment and continued to advance till he planted them on the wall of the enemy's defenses, and being exhausted from the loss of blood from wounds which he had previously received he returnated. ed to the rear and received his death wound about one hundred vards from the wall. Opposed to the Force Bill. Norrolk, Va., July 30.—Mr. John F. Dezendorf, former member of Congress from this district and an active Republican politican, has prepared an open letter to the Virginia Republicans in opposition to the Force bill. It closes with an appeal to the National Republican party and to the Republicans of the South "not to advocate a measure which will solidify the Democracy and deprive the Republicans of the South of the only hope of securing that representation in the Congress of the United States to which they are rightfully entitled, and the only chance of breaking what has heretofore been the solid South; when the only result will be to reinforce the Democratic party in Congress by men who will vote against every measure which Republicans believe to be for the glory and prosperity of our country."

A quick glances over the prices will inform you that August is come. Not to be stored. The house that can afford to give most ought to be the one crowned with August success. The economy in the warfare of traffic gives this advantage here and you are having prices all your own way. The following are the

If you have an old Remington or a writingmachine of another make and desire to exchange it for one of the 1892 stodel Remingtons send us the factory No. and specimen of work and we will submit an offer that no doubt you can see your way clear to accept.

If you have no writing-machine of any make write us for catalogue and terms and we can probably make some arrangement that will be mutually satisfactory.

There are Remingtons in use in Richmond that have been in constant service for seven and eight years, while some of the so-called new, improved writing-machines that have been sold around here within the last year had to be sent to the factory after four months use. I have in my office now several typewriters of other makes, some of them the latest on the market, which I will sell cheap for cash in order to make room for Remingtons to supply my orders with
